Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

I HAD a young man to dinner last night, and I wish some of our young people who think the panic has treated them shabbily because they've finished their education but can't find a job, could know my friend's history.

Log-Sawing Test Experiment Farm Feature on Friday

Local Public Invited to Spring Visiting Day Program

STARTS AT 10 A. M.

Luncheon and Log-Sawing Feature at Farm Friday Noon

Citizens of Hope are especially invited to attend the afternoon session of the spring visiting day program at the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station, Friday according to G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge of the station.

Many farmers from Hempstead and surrounding counties will be present to study the hundreds of experiments with fruit, truck, and field crops during the morning, under the direction of agriculturists.

The noon hour will be devoted to the log-sawing preliminary contest, under the direction of H. H. Huskey, C. Cook, Carrol Allen, Roy Anderson and several judges. A dozen crack saw teams have entered the contest, promising a real treat for the spectators. Novelty music will also be supplied by Stafford's quartet and Harold Roberts string band. Dinner can be purchased at the station.

The afternoon program will consist of brief addresses by Dan T. Gray, Assistant Director, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, and T. Roy Reid, Assistant Director, Agricultural Extension Service.

Special Feature for Women

A feature of special interest to women will be a landscape lecture and demonstration by Prof. J. R. Cooper, College of Agriculture horticulturist and leading landscape authority. His lecture will cover such practical items as varieties of shrubs to plant, arrangement, planting, propagation and general management.

Hope people are urged to play host to southwest Arkansas farmers at the local experiment station Friday. The old highway to the station has been conditionally, and bad weather will not interfere with the program or comfort of the visitors.

The Day's Program

10 a. m. Inspection of station farm by all visitors. 1. Hot bed and Plant Propagation—J. L. Hiller, county agricultural agent. 2. Permanent Pastures—Glen E. Riddell, Missouri Pacific agriculturalist. 3. Cover Crops and Soil Management—Frank Stanley and C. L. L. Rodgers, county agricultural agent. 4. Orchard Management—J. R. Cooper, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. 5. Grape Pruning and Management—Glen Boyd, Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station. 6. Planting and Management of Strawberries and Sweet Potatoes—E. A. Hodson, Food and garden conservation of the E. R. C.

12 m. Picnic dinner (bring your lunch), novelty music, log-sawing contest, inspection of buildings and equipment.

1 p. m. General meeting in auditorium. 1. Agricultural Adjustment Activities—T. Roy Reid, assistant director, Agricultural Extension Service. 2. The New Farm Program—Dan T. Gray, Dean and director, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

2 p. m. Group Demonstrations for Women: Miss Ella Posey, district home demonstration agent, Agricultural Extension Service—Chairman. 1. Planting the Grounds—J. R. Cooper, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. 2. Home Arrangement—Selen Griffin, county home demonstration agent.

3 p. m. Individual inspection of experiments of special interest.

Faculty Ranks High

MAGNOLIA, Ark.—According to the March issue of the Junior College Journal, Magnolia A. & M. college faculty ranks second in the United States in continuous service among junior colleges with the available knowledge. Santa Ana Junior college at Santa Ana, Calif., ranks first with a record of eight and one-fourth years, while Magnolia has a group of thirty teachers with seven and one-half years service.

Young Presbytery Rally on Friday

Hope Pastor to Address Arkadelphia Meeting on Saturday

The young people of the Ouachita presbytery will hold their spring rally at Arkadelphia in the First Presbyterian church of that city beginning Friday and running through Saturday. It was announced in Hope Thursday.

The Rev. Thomas Brewster, pastor of Hope's First Presbyterian, will deliver the sermon at the rally at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Patmos Honor Roll Names 15 Students

Fifteen students out of a total enrollment of 80, of the seventh and eighth grades of Patmos school were listed on the honor roll last month. They are: Seventh grade—Mina Marie Hubbard, Weldon Taylor, Danzil Nicholas, Nell Mayton, Dorothy Elledge, Floride Putman, Doris Henderson, Melba Payne, Rebecca Drake. Eighth grade—Tom Hubbard, Darwin Jones, Willie Mae Welch, Melba Bennett, Maxine Jones and Gerleen Taylor.

Fights Fine

Defying the Kentucky legislature, Vance Armentrout, associate editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, above, was fined $25 Wednesday because he refused to divulge the name of a representative who wrote to the newspaper criticizing the speaker and a house committee, and was jailed for a short time for contempt. A house committee tried the editor on that charge, but he refused to pay the fine.

Insult, Disguised, Flies From Athens

Wife and Servants Held by Police—May Be Heading for Paris

ATHENS, Greece—(AP)—Mrs. Samuel Insull, Sr., said Thursday that her husband, whose stay here was to have ended this day according to a government order, had fled but she did not know where he had gone. Police detained three servants for questioning. The theory was advanced that Insull left disguised as a woman and is on his way to Paris.

Mrs. Insull was taken to a police station for questioning.

New Men's Store Is Opened in Hope

H. H. Higginson, Hope, and Joe Boswell, Prescott, Complete Stock

H. H. Higginson, who formerly operated a men's clothing store in Hope, has returned to this city, after being engaged in this business. In partnership with Joe Boswell, widely known in the city, he opened a store at 215 South Main street some weeks ago, gradually stocking it with everything a man wears.

Mr. Higginson is a native of Hempstead county. He is a brother of former County Judge Luther F. Higginson. He sold his main street men's wear store here eight years ago, and moved to Big Springs, Texas.

The new store, which is in addition to the Hope business district, is in the building formerly occupied by Waddie Bros. supply store. Several new glass show cases were installed last week. The firm is to be known as Boswell & Higginson, the men's store. A complete stock of work clothing and shoes is handled by the firm. For the past several weeks Mr. Higginson has been selecting nationally known brands of dress clothing which are not represented in this section. During the past few days the complete spring stock of dress apparel of well known brands has arrived.

State Agri Corp. to Continue Loans

Arkansas Group Won't Retire in Favor of U. S. Credit Body

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Finding that the farmers preferred to continue doing business with the State Agricultural Corporation the State Agricultural Credit Board Thursday decided to continue operations indefinitely rather than abandon the field to the Federal Farm Credit Administration. Taking stock of its assets the board found its losses to be surprisingly small, Thursday's statement said.

Bankhead Cotton Control Bill to Reach Vote Friday

House Pushes Thursday Toward Final Action on Measure

PEACE FOR BONUS

Compromise in House Believed to Have Averted Roosevelt Veto

WASHINGTON, (AP)—House consideration of the Bankhead compulsory cotton control bill was resumed Thursday and its sponsors drove toward a vote, but indications were that final action would be delayed until Friday.

Bonus Compromise

WASHINGTON, (AP)—After once breaking away from administration leaders, the house settled down Wednesday night and adopted compromise proposals on veterans and federal pay legislation contained in the controversial independent offices supply bill.

This action came at the close of a long day which had seen Democrats join with Republicans and Farmer-Laborites in an uprising against administration desires that the measure be sent to conference with the senate for a settlement satisfactory to President Roosevelt who had threatened a veto.

As dispatched to conference Wednesday night, the measure included the $40,000,000 labor compromise proposal for increased benefits to former soldiers and the Vinson amendment restoring 5 per cent of government salaries on February 1 and another 5 on July 1.

The senate originally had overstepped the administration to boost veterans' benefits about $118,000,000 and direct a 5 per cent restoration of federal pay now and the full 15 per cent on July 1.

Confronted by the veto threat, the house voted 222 to 191 for the proposal of Representative Taber (R., N. Y.), and 185 to 101 for the pay restoration proposition of Representative Vinson (D., Ga.).

Boswell Brother Buried at Waldo

Tom, 67, Succumbs Tuesday—Funeral Held There Wednesday

T. G. (Tom) Boswell, 67, died suddenly at 9 o'clock Tuesday night at his home in Waldo, Ark., and was buried with services from the Baptist church there Wednesday.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Howard McCloud of Lewisville, two sons, Harold and Glen, both of Waldo, two brothers, Lawrence and Monroe Boswell of Hope; and three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Rogers, Patmos, and Mrs. Alex May and Mrs. Rob May, both of Bodcaw.

Home Specialist Lectures in Hope

Mrs. Ida A. Fenton to Return for Another Meeting Next Month

Mrs. Ida A. Fenton, state home management specialist, of Little Rock, held a home management school for the demonstration clubs of Hempstead county Tuesday at 9:30 o'clock at the city hall.

The following clubs were represented: Guernsey, DeAnn, Ozan, Washington, Shover Springs, Green Laster, Patmos, Blevins, and Liberty.

Mrs. Fenton gave an interesting lecture on kitchen improvement and conveniences. She also gave data on the low cost of water systems in rural homes. Mrs. Fenton will hold another home management school the latter part of April.

Paschke String Band at Saratoga Friday

The Paschke string band and the old family album, composed of the Blevins brothers, will be presented in a musical program Friday night at Saratoga High School. Two 12-year-old fiddlers, Jack and Jill, will be featured. The program is sponsored by the senior class of Saratoga High School. The public is invited.

Mrs. Roosevelt Heading Home

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her party arrived here aboard the air liner Caribbean Clipper Thursday on a flight from San Juan, and will remain overnight before continuing her return voyage to Miami, Fla.

Byrd's Airplane Falls; None Hurt

But Big Monoplane Is Destroyed During Test Flight

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica—(AP)—Admiral Byrd's monoplane, carrying Lieutenant Commander Schlossbach and three passengers, crashed Thursday but no one was seriously injured.

The plane was completely wrecked. It was making a test flight.

Emergency Relief Will End April 1

Work Program for Cities, Rural Rehabilitation, to Follow

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Effective April 1, emergency relief in Arkansas will be discontinued. W. R. Dyess, state CWA and relief director announced Wednesday on his return from an Atlanta relief conference with Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator and other state directors.

In its place, two programs will be inaugurated—a work program for cities of 5,000 population or more and a rural rehabilitation program for rural areas and open country.

The only persons to be retained on the relief rolls when the two new programs go into effect will be those rendered destitute by age or sickness, Mr. Dyess said. These will be aided only with surplus commodities and food, only when it has been determined that a maximum final effort has been made by the cities and counties to care adequately for them.

The work program will be carried on in cities of 5,000 or more people, provided the cities contribute largely to the purchase of materials and supplies. Labor will be furnished by the Works Division.

A minimum rate of 30 cents an hour for 24 hour a week will be allowed persons thus employed, but employment will be given only to persons "actually eligible and entitled to relief." This applies particularly to the industrial unemployed who are stranded in cities, Mr. Dyess said.

Only work projects that actually pertain to the families being rehabilitated will be approved for rural communities. Mr. Dyess said. These projects will consist of repairing houses and draining lands as a compensation to the landowners, building community canning centers and recreation centers, repairing rural schools attended by a number of children from such families etc.

Death Toll 150 in Island Explosion

Much of City of San Salvador Destroyed in Dynamite Blast

SAN SALVADOR, (AP)—With 150 already estimated dead in a terrific port explosion at La Libertad, authorities feared Thursday that the death toll would grow among the seriously injured.

A large section of the city was destroyed by fire following the explosion of seven tons of dynamite aboard a freight train Wednesday.

7 Tons of Dynamite

SAN SALVADOR.—Seven tons of dynamite on a freight train blew up in front of an explosives warehouse at the port of La Libertad, 22 miles south of here Wednesday.

Flames, which, fed by thousands of cans of gasoline and kerosene, threatened destruction of the town. Most of the population had fled to the open country as the fire swept through the workers' area, destroying hundreds of flimsily constructed houses.

Doctors and nurses rushed from this city and members of the Red Cross chapter, comprising principally San Salvador society women, toiled throughout the day Wednesday to minister to the injured rescued from the smoking debris by police and National Guardsmen. Trucks and automobiles poured into the capital with loads of wounded, taxing the hospital facilities.

Damage was estimated to exceed $1,500,000, with the flames still unabated. Fifteen thousand sacks of coffee and 4,000 barrels of gasoline and kerosene had been burned.

An investigation into the cause of the explosion was undertaken by Criminal Judge Peralta at the direction of Minister of War Flores. Herbert J. Gwyn, manager of the Salvadoran Agencies Company, and port officials were among those questioned. It was learned that the dynamite was discharged by the steamer Catalina. It was being moved in two freight cars when the train came to a sudden stop. The jolt is believed to have caused the blast.

Australia Reports 75 Die in Cyclone

Aborigines Are Victims of North Coast Disaster

BRISBANE, Australia—(AP)—Seventy-five persons were either drowned or missing Thursday as the result of cyclones on the north coast of Queensland province. The victims are aborigines.

Record Industrial Clash Approaching, Labor Head Says

Companies Answer Green Before National Labor Board

TIGHTEN UP ON NRA

Roosevelt Requires Compliance With All United States Funds

WASHINGTON, (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told a senate committee Thursday that the automobile industry "is on the verge of one of the greatest strikes in the history of the nation."

He made this statement as the automobile-makers, facing strike threats, presented their side of the story to the National Labor Board.

At the same time the railway employees and managers sought a solution of their pay dispute in which the employers seek to reduce the basic wage rate another 5 per cent in addition to the 10 per cent now in effect.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt Thursday tightened up the regulations requiring all contractors dealing with the government to comply with the NRA codes of fair competition.

In a long executive order, the president placed full authority in the hands of Industrial Recovery Administrator Johnson to deal with government contractors.

The order also requires all contracts and purchase orders, authorized by any state, municipal corporation, local subdivision, person or corporation using funds loaned or granted by any agency of the United States to come under the provisions of the order. Johnson is given power to make exceptions in certain cases.

A maximum fine of $500 and a sentence of six months imprisonment are provided as the penalty for false certification.

Will Reorganize Army Air Corps

Lindbergh Won't Serve—Dern Repeats His Invitation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—In line with President Roosevelt's request for 10 million dollars to improve the army air mail service, the Department of War issued a statement Thursday saying:

"The army fliers should be organized, equipped and trained to meet any emergency on 24 hours notice."

The statement followed new efforts by Secretary Dern to get Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to serve on a special commission to study methods of improving the air service.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt's order for a study of aviation intended to produce a new air policy Wednesday night promised to revive the bitter controversy that began with Brig. Gen. William Mitchell's frang utterances in 1925 and has continued sporadically since.

Mitchell, former assistant chief of the Army Corps, urged one federal unit for the control of military aviation. The review that Mr. Roosevelt set in motion Wednesday may extend

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Marine Band "Oomph" Leaves Industries Cold. Strain Shows on F. R. Convention Group Rusty on Prayer. Big Business Oldsters Still Want Their Pie Thick. CAB and Labor Show Is "Bust."

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—When it wants to whoop things up, a government says it with music. The band strikes up and a lot of fellows strut off to war and get killed or re-elected a president or something.

Crowds, thrilled by the oomph-oomph and the blat-blat, think it's swell.

But the trouble with the 5000 code authority representatives gathered recently, was they wouldn't get whooped.

The marine band blared its most seductive tunes, "Stars and Stripes Forever" blended into "Happy Days Are Here Again." Presumably "Big Bad Wolf" was supposed to make everybody amiable and the next was the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt March."

As if recalling the code-violating automobile industry, the band swung into "A Motor Ride" and then a grand whoop-piece—"Marching Along, Together."

All this in the most patriotic imaginable setting, the D. A. R.'s Constitution Hall, with its flags and emblems. You might have expected the band-led industrialists to get steamed up—for a few minutes, anyway.

Then Roosevelt came on the stage, talked of higher wages, shorter hours, the consumer, humanity before profits and freedom for labor to organize.

Occasional polite hand-clapping wasn't enough to interrupt him. At the end, the New Deal officials on the platform were behind the microphone and the band, playing "Star-Spangled Banner," below it. So it may have sounded like a demonstration over the radio. But actual applause in the hall was freezingly thin.

This column is devoted to things you may not have heard about the code conferences.

F. R. "Does the Nice Thing" The real enthusiasm for F. R. came from a few hundred other code authority folks at an overflow meeting in Memorial Hall, barn of the D. A. R. gals till they outgrew it.

Roosevelt hadn't planned the visit there. It was just a nice thing to do—and he decided on it after he happened to hear about the overflow boys while at Constitution. They loved it.

Strain Aged President Roosevelt looked tired—I won't say haggard. His facial gestures the keeps haggard on the table to support himself) lacked zest. (Two nights earlier the movie of his inauguration had been shown at a large banquet and someone said he looked ten years older today. Ray Moley and Assistant Secretary of Commerce John Dickinson disputed that, but a White House secret service man and several others agreed. Everyone, however, insists he's in good health.)

Few things ever stirred your correspondent's emotions more than the spectacle of Roosevelt leaving the platform after his big speech.

Rusty on Prayer Frances Perkins was the only person of 4000 to arise when the chaplain began to pray. The others, quickly and slowly, took the cue. But when time came to join in the Lord's Prayer, few seemed to remember the words.

Later, Frances and Bill Green of the A. F. of L. often had their heads together, though a year ago Bill bitterly was attacking her appointment to the cabinet.

Still Want Their Pie In corridors and at section meetings it appeared that Roosevelt's hopes for co-operation with the New Deal must rest with the younger men in business and industry. Old-timers still demand cuts of pre-depression size in the profit pie.

Young fellows still have their eyes out for stray nickles and dimes, but are willing to concede that this is another period.

Show Is a "Bust" The Labor and Consumer Advisory Board performs at the main show wena sour. Perkins and Green made good labor speeches. Chairman Leo Wolman of LAB, regarded as a labor representative by no one but himself and General Johnson, boasted of labor's victories.

Other LAB members hastened to whisper that he spoke only for himself. . . . Hundreds fled as Chairman Mary Rumsey of CAB rose to speak for the consumer. Hundreds more leaped as she introduced Vice Chairman Frank Graham, president of North Carolina University.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
Avoid Arguing With a Willful Child.

The wise mother won't argue with a stubborn child. Olive Roberts Barton tells why in another of her interesting articles on Child Training.

Jimmy wants to take out his sled but his mother, thinking the snow's too thin, gets the kiddie-car. Jimmy is four years old.

He stamps and says, "No. I want my sled."

"But you can't have your sled, See!" She holds back the curtain. "Come and look. There is hardly any snow."

"I want my sled."

"The other children have no sleds. Oh, come on, look at the doggie on your kiddie-car. He wants a ride."

"No—I want—my—sled."

"All right. Take your sled, you unreasonable little boy. I'll put your car back in the closet. There. Got hold of the rope? Now run along."

Jimmy hangs back.

"Now what is the matter? Why don't you go?"

"What! Why you just asked me to go out."

"I want my kiddie car."

"Well you can't have it. You're just too naughty for anything. Go on now." Fushes him out and shuts the door.

A Battle Won. He sits down on the steps and howls. The children gather around. "What's wrong, Jimmy?"

"I want my kiddie-car and Mama won't let me have it."

"She must be crazy," says Roger. "There ain't hardly any snow. You can't use your sled."

The door opens suddenly, the "crazy" one thrusts out the kiddie-car, hauls in the sled, and slams the door.

"Gee, she's mad," giggles Roger. Everybody stares at Jimmy. They're sure he will cry. It's terrible when a mama gets mad.

But Jimmy has a peculiar and self-satisfied look. He scrambles down off the steps and trundles away. He has won again. He is four years old. The age when "the little baby who was always so sweet before" becomes so suddenly such a naughty, naughty little boy. The age when "will" develops by setting itself up against other wills to pit its own strength and conquer if it can. The "self" impulse sending out experimental feelers and finding gratification.

What is she going to do about it? This is getting to be a rather regular thing. She can't give in always, and even if she does, he gets as contrary as a mule. He doesn't seem to have any reason at all.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson Jesus Responds to Faith

Text: Matt. 15:21-16:12
The International Union Sunday School Lesson for March 15.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

This lesson, which has been designed to teach and emphasize the reality of faith, has been a stumbling block to many people. If we were to read it with cold and prosaic literalism, it would present the Master in a character far different from that of the full picture that we have of him in the Gospels.

Instead of thinking of him as ready and eager to perform a deed of love and mercy, he would appear as very reluctant and hesitating. He would seem almost to share the prejudices of those who despised people of a foreign race, and instead of having that gentleness and graciousness that we associate with him in the blessing of the little children, and in other contacts, he would seem to have spoken and acted with a strange harshness.

What are the facts? As Jesus came into the coast of Tyre and Sidon we are told that a woman of Canaan met him, appealing to him to heal her daughter, who was " grievously vexed with a devil," or, as we should probably say in our terminology, seriously afflicted with some form of disease.

We are told that Jesus paid no attention to her, not answering her at all; but the disciples, troubled with her beseeching, came to him and asked him to send her away.

The reply of Jesus to the disciples seemed so harsh and unsympathetic as their own attitude, for Jesus said, "I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

When the woman came then and worshipped him, appealing to him for help, the words of Jesus seemed even more stern, for he said, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs."

But the woman was persistent. Great in her faith and in her determination, she matched the challenge of the Master by replying, "Truth, Lord, yet the dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

Are we, then, to read this passage entirely apart from the picture that we have of Jesus in the Gospels, and utterly without the light and suggestiveness that the whole portrayal of the Master throws upon it? Surely only a very blind and prosaic reader could interpret the passage in that way.

Would it not seem to be the truth, rather, that Jesus was rebuking the attitude of the disciples who sent the woman away altogether, that he was trying them as he was trying the woman herself?

Is it not much more nearly the truth to believe that, when Jesus in response to the woman's piteous pleading, said, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs," there was a mildness and kindness in his eye that belied his words? As if he were playfully referring to a narrow and bitter prejudice, that other men felt, in the very moment when he was going to perform for the woman the deed of love and mercy that she sought.

This would seem to us the only true and natural interpretation—an interpretation entirely consistent with both the spirit and the teaching of Jesus. He intended that the emphasis should be as it is for us, upon the woman's faith, upon the faith that could triumph over prejudice and the insulting attitude, even of the disciples, and that, in trustfulness of the Master's goodness, she could believe that all things with God through him, were possible.

A mild and gentle lover of children, in dealing with them, often will assume a playful harshness that the children do not misunderstand. It was in that spirit that Jesus acted and spoke the very moment that he was about to reveal his love and goodness in an act of mercy.

The Shell Game

Revival of the annual Poughkeepsie intercollegiate regatta brings to light some information that is mighty interesting—on the frail shells that those husky 180-pounders pull through the water as such a clip.

At first glance, one wonders what there is to one of those shells that calls for a layout of from $1500 to $2000. But, on investigation, the curious find there's plenty.

In the first place, every good shell is hand-made, of red cedar, the same wood that was used by Indians in their war canoes. The cut lumber is kept in kilns with the air circulating through it for more than a year, until it becomes thoroughly seasoned. This lumber has native oils in it to prevent water decay, and is said to swell or shrink less than any other wood.

The shell builders, all artists of a long line, build the boat upside down. Its framework is of Sitka spruce, the strongest wood for its weight in the world.

The "skin" of red cedar is put in place over the frame, and it is here where patience and handicraft come in. The weather must be just right before this operation is started.

Little pegs of wood are kept under the gunwales to gauge action of the weather on the frame. A covering of Japanese silk is placed over the decks, and this operation, too, is all by hand.

When the craftsmen are finished, they have a shell weighing in the neighborhood of 75 pounds, which is about 80 feet long and having a beam not more than two feet wide. Only one-tenth inch thickness separates the osmen from the water.

Between the tracks of this side, each man has a tiny platform, set on transverse braces of the shell, on which he

Your Health By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Running Nose Is First Warning of Rhinitis

When your nose begins to run and you feel feverish and ill, that form of the common cold, called "rhinitis" is setting in.

Rhinitis begins with a burning and pricking sensation in the nose or throat. And it is then that you are confronted with all sorts of remedies for cutting the cold short.

The simplest of these comes under the classification of treatments which produce vasodilation.

After the cold has started, take a hot bath in a warm room and go straight to bed. Take plenty of hot drinks, such as hot lemonade, and, with them, an alkali like sodium bicarbonate (common baking soda) or sodium citrate.

Keep the mucous membrane of the nose protected with an oily spray. Such sprays usually contain menthol, camphor, or eucalyptus, which seem to decrease the irritation and swelling.

Many a person injures his ear from too vigorous and too frequent blowing of the nose, during a cold. It is not to blow both sides of the nose at the same time, since this tends to drive the infection to the ear through the Eustachian tube.

Since the exact cause of the cold is not known, you should do your best to prevent it by avoiding exposure to drafts and dampness, by avoiding sudden changes from hot to cold, and by keeping your body as well nourished as possible.

For this purpose a well-balanced diet should be taken, supplemented by cod liver oil, which provides the vitamins usually not sufficient in most diets.

However, there is no proof that either Vitamin A or Vitamin D, which are the vitamins of cod liver oil, has succeeded in preventing colds or curing them after they have developed, except so far as they affect nutrition.

People given to frequent colds should have a careful examination of nose and throat for local infections. They should have their vitality raised to a point as high as possible because, when general resistance of the body is high, resistance of the body to colds is increased.

New Men's Line Taken by Rephan

"Yearcraft" Suits Placed in Stock by New York Store

The agency for "Yearcraft" popular-priced men's suits, has been taken by Rephan's store here, and the first shipment arrived this week, as announced in yesterday's Hope Star.

This brand is among the oldest on the market today, it is said. For many years the makers have attached a bond to each suit guaranteeing it for satisfactory wear for one year from date of purchase.

Rephan's stores at Nashville and Prescott also have the agency for this line of clothing. Both of these stores are now showing the new spring patterns.

will be joined about the first of June by Mrs. Berry and their daughter, Miss Virginia, who is a member of the McCaskill High School faculty, and their son, who is attending Arkansas College in Batesville.

Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Wednesday Contract Bridge club and a few extra guests with Mrs. A. C. Anderson of Colorado, Texas, as honor guests. Spring flowers brightened the rooms where bridge was played from three tables, with Mrs. G. Frank Miles scoring high for the club and Mrs. Terrell Cornelius for the guests. Mrs. Anderson was presented with a dainty gift. Following the game, a delicious salad course was served.

The John Cain chapter, D. A. R. held their March meeting at 1 o'clock luncheon on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. O. A. Graves, on North Washington street. For the occasion, the hospitable Graves home was attractive with a quantity of lovely spring flowers, the luncheon tables were covered with Chinese thread linen cloths, and the St. Patrick note was beautifully emphasized in the central adornments, service, and menu. Following a most tempting luncheon, the meeting was called to order by regent, Mrs. R. T. White and during the business period, the following officers were elected: Regent, Mrs. R. T. White; vice regent, Miss Mamie Twitchell; recording secretary, Mrs. Chas. Haynes; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles Locke; chaplain, Mrs. A. L. Black. At the close of the business period, Mrs. Chas. Haynes gave the highlights of the recent state conference held in Fort Smith at which time, Mrs. William Russell Magna, president general was presented with a letter box made from Arkansas hardwood. Miss Mamie Twitchell read Mrs. Magna's address. The next meeting will be held in April at the home of Mrs. Dan Green on Division street.

Among Hope relatives and friends attending the funeral of T. J. Boswell in Waldo on Wednesday were Mrs. C. R. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hart, Miss Bessie Bean, Mrs. Sam Womack, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Boswell and Misses Wilma and Lucetta Boswell.

Mrs. Herbert Creason, little son, Don, aged about seven months, and her mother, Mrs. H. E. Peters, left Thursday morning for Pocatontos for a visit of about two months. Mrs. Peters has been a guest of her daughter here for the past few weeks. Herbert Creason is associated with Rephan's stores as display and advertising manager.

that proposed control to civil flying as well.

Speculation that the result of the inquiry into all phases of flying will lead to administration recommendations for one governmental agency to supervise aviation went so far that Mitchell's name was mentioned as a possible head of the unit.

General Mitchell declined Wednesday to express his views on the president's aeronautical survey, explained that his aides were well known and unchanged.

Since his resignation from the army because of conflict with the War Department on aviation questions, Mitchell has continued to advocate a separate Department of Aeronautics which would have general supervision over all governmental air activities.

Lindbergh Won't Serve

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh Wednesday night notified Secretary Dorn of the War Department that he could not serve on the special committee to investigate the army flying of the air mail.

"I do not feel that I can serve on a committee whose function it is to assist in following out an executive order to the army to take over the commercial air mail system of the United States," Lindbergh telegraphed the secretary.

The noted aviator had been requested to join Orville Wright, Clarence Chamberlin and other airmen in the investigation.

"Appreciates Honor"

"I greatly appreciate the honor of your request that I become a member of a special committee to study and report upon army aviation in relation to national defense," the telegram began.

"I would of course be glad to contribute in any way that I can to the maintenance of an adequate national defense. However, according to the announcement by the War Department, this committee is to study and report upon performance by the Army Air Corps in its mission to carry the air mail as directed by executive order."

"I believe that the use of the Army Air Corps to carry the air mail was unwarranted and contrary to American principles."

"This action was unjust to the air lines whose contracts were cancelled without trial. It was unfair to the personnel of the Army Air Corps who had neither equipment designed for the purpose nor adequate time for training in a new field."

"It has unnecessarily greatly damaged all American aviation."

ing newspaper ethics by breaking a confidence.

Armentrout, acting editor of the Courier-Journal during the illness of Harrison Robertson, editor, refused to name the writer, who signed himself "A member of the House of Representatives" because he was "honored" to keep the name in confidence.

The lobby committee sent Armentrout to jail, but he was released an hour later on a writ of habeas corpus granted by County Judge L. Boone Hamilton. His trial Monday night by the special committee which followed was under a statute making contempt a misdemeanor punishable with a maximum of six months in jail and $1,000 fine, though there was a constitutional question as to whether the house could keep him in jail after its adjournment set for Thursday night.

French Open Door to Peace Treaty

Would Be Lenient to Germany If England Gives Guarantee

ROME, Italy.—(AP)—In well-informed circles Thursday it was said that other European nations will be invited to participate in an agreement now being drawn between Austria, Hungary and Italy.

PARIS.—(AP)—France will propose a four-point arms convention in reply to the recent British disarmament plan.

A note now being drafted by the Foreign Affairs Committee, it was learned Wednesday night, will accept an arms treaty, providing that: First, German Storm Troopers are included in any count of the Reich's soldiers.

Second, France will not be asked to disarm immediately if the Reich is granted the right to rearm.

Third, serious guarantees will be given that the convention be carried out faithfully.

Fourth, that the convention be concluded shortly because many countries are speedily rearming.

Failing in these reservations, the note hints, it was said, that France will be unable to judge unless Great Britain offers to come to the aid of France in case of attack.

The stubborn Franco-German impasse, meanwhile, was not changed by Chancellor Hitler's reply to the latest French note, received Wednesday. French officials said Hitler had "changed nothing" in the situation.

The Chamber of Deputies' Foreign Affairs Committee told Premier Doumergue that the forthcoming note must leave the door open for disarmament. This decision was reached after strong tendencies were displayed within the government to be done with the whole problem of arms and differences between France and Germany.

Doumergue was warned by the committee that it favored an arms treaty which would provide definitely for "disarmament, or, failing that, a convention limiting arms in order to avoid a danger to peace from an arms race."

Foreign Minister Louis Barthou not long ago took the stand of refusing to disarm "while Germany is rearming."

The German note will be kept secret at Berlin's request. It answered a French note of February 13 which said Germany was increasing her defense forces and virtually closed the door to further discussions.

The Treasury building at Washington was built between 1836 and 1839 and is the oldest of the government office buildings in the capital.

The pastime of following the hounds or fox hunting, involves an annual expenditure of from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 in Great Britain.

Good Will Day at Implement House

South Arkansas Co. to Entertain in Hope Tuesday, March 20

Announcement that a goodwill day for farmers will be held here next Tuesday March 20, by the South Arkansas Implement company was made Thursday by Ladd Miller, local manager of the implement firm. The entertainment will start at 9 o'clock in the morning and will last throughout the day.

The program calls for free moving pictures for farmers, a hammer mill demonstration, and the award of an attendance prize. Three hundred pounds of feed will be ground free for every farmer who will bring it in, Mr. Miller said. Any kind of feed is acceptable, he stated, or if the farmers prefer, they may bring corn or wheat and have it made into meal or flour. Every farmer is asked to bring sacks in which to take home his feed after it is ground. The attendance prize, which will be awarded at 3:30 in the afternoon, is to be a McCormick-Deering cotton and corn planter.

The Farmer's Day Entertainment is being held in appreciation of the patronage the farmers of this territory have shown the implement dealer in the past year. Two weeks ago a similar party was held for farmers in Texarkana, where the South Arkansas Implement Company operates another store; nearly 800 farmers were in attendance.

Touhy Gangster Is Slain in Chicago

"Ice Wagon" Connors, Police Fugitive, Found Murdered

CHICAGO—(AP)—Charles (Ice Wagon) Connors, one of the Touhy gangsters long hunted for the kidnaping of John Factor, was found shot to death in a remote section of the south-west side Tuesday.

The body, shot twice through the chest, the head battered in with bullets and another wound through the arm, lay unidentified several hours while officers tried to compare the features with those of the hunted gangster.

Identification finally was made by finger prints.

This was the first killing among his fellows since the gang roundup began last summer at Elkhorn, Wis., when Roger Touhy and several confederates were captured.

Four of them were tried and acquitted at St. Paul of the William Mamm, Jr., kidnaping, and after the acquittal Willie Sharkey hanged himself rather than face trial at Chicago for kidnaping John Factor.

Three, Roger Touhy, Albert Kator and Gus Schaefer, were convicted recently and sent to Joliet prison for 99 years to pay for their $70,000 "smash" of Factor. Edward "Father Tom" McFadden, the elderly member of the mob, was acquitted by directed verdict of the court during the first Factor kidnaping trial, when the jury disagreed.

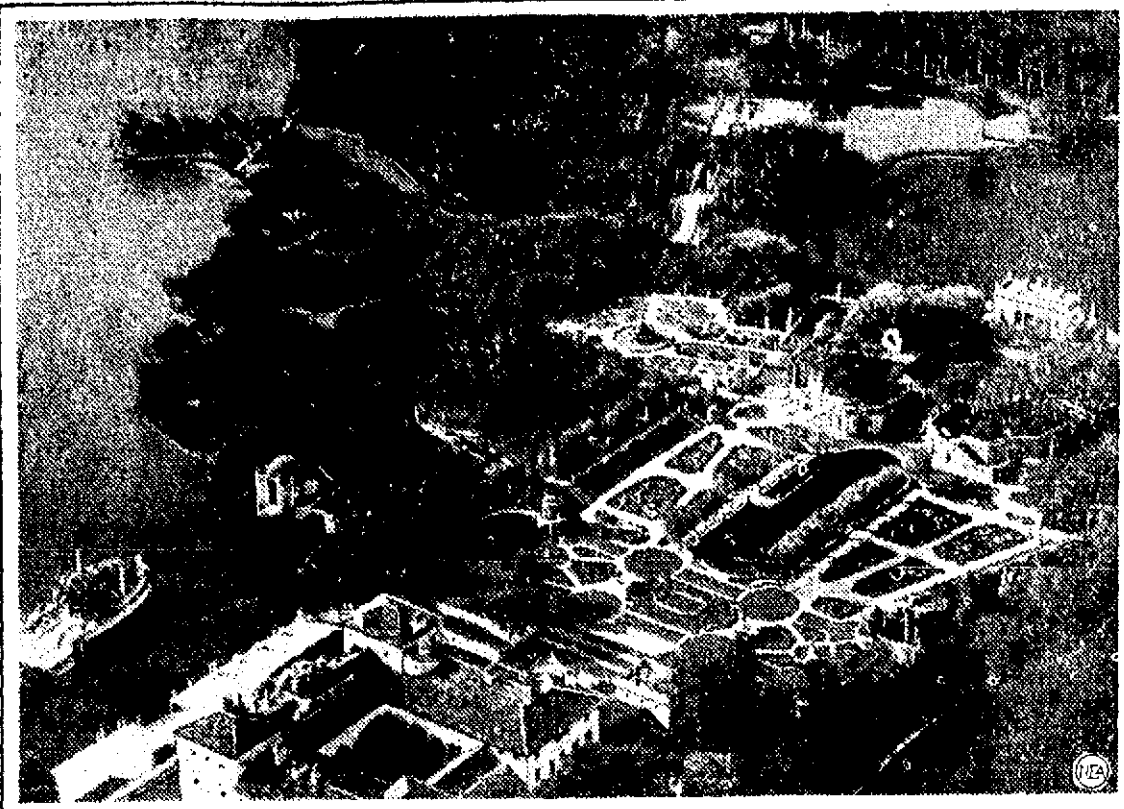

Another of the gang was on trial Tuesday for the same crime. Basil Hugh Bankhart, chief among the witnesses against him were Isaac Costner and "Buck" Henrichsen, two of the Touhy aids who turned against their gang.

O'Connell Kidnaper to Serve 50 Years

Manny Strewl, Albany "Go-Between," Is Found Guilty

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Manny Strewl was convicted Tuesday night of the charge of kidnaping Lieutenant John J. O'Connell, Jr., nephew of the powerful upstate political leaders, last July.

Sentence was deferred until next Friday. Because of previous criminal record Strewl will receive the maximum penalty, 50 years imprisonment. The jury deliberated only three hours. The first ballot was 11 to 1 for guilty.

Strewl received the verdict calmly as did his widowed mother who sat between her two other sons, Jacob and Morris.

Daniel H. Prior, defense counsel, asked a poll of the jury. Each answered to his name with the one word "guilty."

None of the O'Connell family was in the courtroom when the verdict was returned.

Strewl, the go-between in the ransom negotiations, was accused of writing the ransom letters which he purported to receive from the gang.

Strewl, hands in pocket, faced Judge Earl H. Gallup as he answered questions of the clerk regarding his life. His voice was low and somewhat higher pitched than naturally.

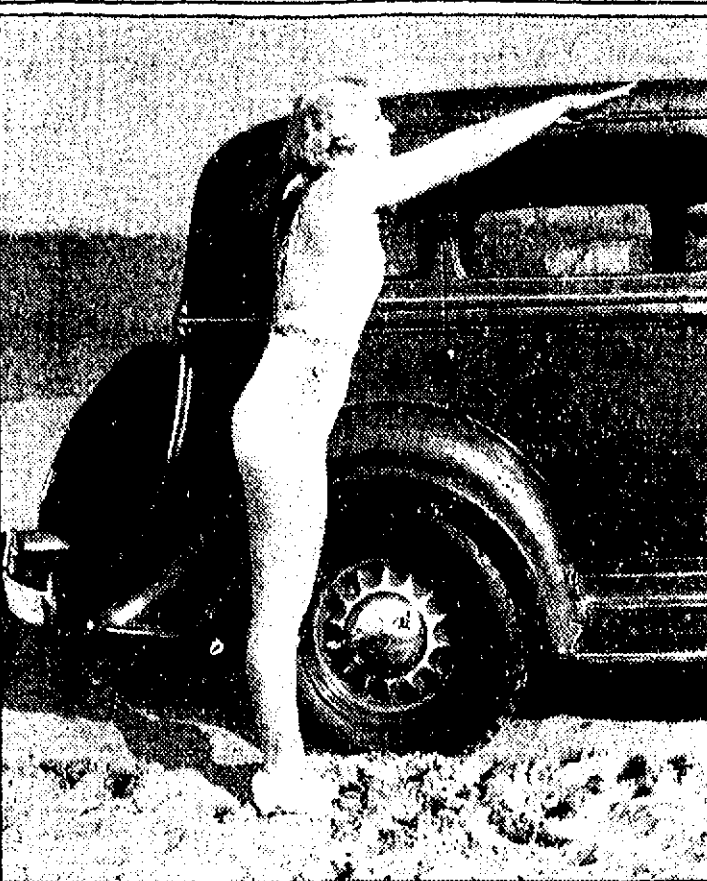

There was no demonstration when the verdict was announced. Strewl said he was 30, single, and gave his occupation as clerk. He said he had twice before been convicted of law violations, once in 1922 for breaking a federal interstate commerce commission law and in 1923 for impersonating a federal officer. For those offenses he served two terms at Atlanta federal prison.

Defense Attorney Prior announced he would appeal, possibly direct to the court of appeals, New York's highest tribunal.

Streamlining an Interesting Theme

When the study of streamlined bodies passes beyond the portals of laboratories and wind tunnels, and is taken up by eagle-eyed news photographers—something like the above picture is likely to happen. It really requires little in the way of engineering acumen to note a striking similarity in some lines of the two companion subjects, the lady and the car. While the pictorialist remains reticent regarding the identity of the alluringly-contoured Southern belle shown in the foreground, he lets it be known that the car is one of the 1934 aero-streamed De-Joe Sixes.

Used as a Target, Cartridge Replies

Little Rock Man Takes Shot at Bullet—and Bullet Fires Back at Him

LITTLE ROCK. Hey, Mister Ripley, did you ever hear of a guy fighting a duel with himself?

Raymond Cobb, aged 19, did it Tuesday. He fired an ordinary air rifle loaded with BB shot and was wounded in the left hand with a .22-caliber bullet. Nobody else fired a gun.

Try that one on your cusel, Rip. Cobb, who was working on a CWA ditching project on Division street, in North Little Rock, paused in his work to inspect an air rifle carried by one of a group of boys playing nearby. He decided to test his marksmanship.

For a target he took a .22-caliber bullet from his pocket and stuck it nose first in the ground a few paces away. Then he took careful aim and fired at the cartridge, scoring a direct hit.

Whereupon, the cartridge, without taking aim, fired back at him. The bullet pierced his left hand. He went to the city clinic, where the wound was dressed by Dr. Val Eason, North Little Rock city physician.

NEWSPAPER editors are many men of many minds—get two or more together and you always can start an argument . . . but on one subject the leading editors of the nation agree: the news must be reported accurately and impartially.

That is why, some 40 years ago, outstanding newspapers organized The Associated Press, a co-operative, non-profit organization devoted solely to reporting accurately the news of the world.

This association—now more than 1,300 strong—marches under the banner of Truth, a banner never yet struck, an escutcheon which never will be stained.
